Too Many Votes Invalidate Election in NPS

Group Throws Out Vote

Opponents of North Palm Springs incorporation lost its nearly-won control of the local Chamber of Commerce last night after an election committee declared a "mis-election" when 313 ballots were tabulated and a roll call showed only 283 voters.

Chamber Secretary J. G. Dever tabulated the ballots 6 times before making the announcement that the vote was higher than the number of voters present.

THE ELECTION was for seven of 15 candidates running for the board of directors of the organization.

By declaring the "mis-election" the Chamber will retain its present officers until fall when a new election will be held. Present officers are Ted Pendergast, president; Joe Kelley, vice president, and J. G. Dever, secretary-treasurer.

PENDERGAST, WHO said that he was not running for re-election, reported that the vote, although disqualified, appeared to be strongly with opponents of incorporation. He reported the vote indicated Harvey Anderson and J. G. Devers had defeated Peter Novak, Roth Williams, and L. T. Williams, and that J. L. Meek and W. O. Newberry, both strong in opposition to incorporation proposals were also victorious.

A special committee was named by the board of directors to come up with changes in the organization's by-laws and to set up boundaries for membership.

DEVER SAID that two ballots were mis-marked and thrown out, and that three mailed in ballots bore no name that could be checked against the membership roster, and were therefore disqualified.

Oddly enough, it was pointed out the paid membership of the organization numbers 313.

Castro Visits United Nations In N.Y. Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fidel Castro, the wooliest and most wildly welcomed statesman to visit New York in years, steps over the border into United Nations territory today. Security-harassed city police were grateful for the breather.

Cuba's prime minister was scheduled to meet with U.N. Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold at noon and to lunch with the United Nations Correspondents Association—unless he takes it into his head to do something else first.

"I WANT TO SEE the people," Castro kept saying Tuesday. And see them he did—from 11 a.m., when he tried to join a crowd of 5,000 cheering friends in Pennsylvania Station, until midnight, when he submitted to the good night embraces of 10 young women in bright red sweaters outside the door of his hotel room.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur on his return from Korea drew bigger crowds, but he didn't try to get out of the parade.

CASTRO WAS IN and out of it all day and into the night. He charged up to police barricades to shake hands with Viva - shouting, flag-waving admirers. The last 100 or so of them were pushed bodily into elevators by police at midnight when it appeared the bearded rebel hero otherwise would be holding court all night in a 17th-floor hotel corridor.

Terror Reign Reported in Tibet Today

Refugees Say Nation Now Is Vast Prison

KATHMANDU, Nepal — (UPI) — Communist Chinese troops have turned Tibet into a vast prison with thousands of Tibetans being whipped each day in the streets and Buddhist nuns sent to army camps for the pleasure of the troops, refugees fleeing to Nepal reported today.

They said nearly 2,500 Tibetan monasteries were damaged or destroyed by Communist artillery in the past month and nearly 8,000 monks killed, 12,000 arrested and about 800,000 lamas forced to flee homeless and hungry into the mountains.

THIS UPI CORRESPONDENT traveled through the snow-covered 17,000 - foot mountain passes to reach the border of Tibet and interview the refugees. At the Nepal Tibet border a few miles north of the village of Tarke, were some refugees who said some of 30 well-armd Chinese divisions in Tibet were led by Russians.

One English - speaking Tibetan named Thote, a 27-year-old graduate of Peiping University, said the Chinese killed 165 members of his clan in the village of Ghetumba in Kham Province. He said he saw his father machine-gunned for refusing to betray other Tibetan patriots.

THOTE SAID THAT during his flight to Nepal he passed through 65 villages that had been known as good trading centers and that every one was destroyed by the Communists with not a sign of life visible anywhere.

"Every Tibetan was a prisoner," he said. "The whole country was turned into a vast prison. Dusk to dawn curfews were imposed all over Tibet and did not allow normal living.

"THOUSANDS OF peaceful innocent Tibetans were being whipped daily in open places in the course of questioning and inhumane methods were being applied for confession. Mostly the people preferred to confess as desired by the Chinese than stand tortures any long.

'Bill of Rights' Asked for Unions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) today urged approval of a far-ranging "bill of rights" for union members to sharpen the teeth of the Senate's labor reform measure.

The rackets committee chairman planned to call up the proposal as the first in his series of amendments aimed at toughening the anti-corruption bill sponsored by Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Sam J. Ervin (D-N. C.).

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), leading opponent of the bill, said he thought McClellan would "have very good backing" and cut into the strong support which Kennedy got in two votes Tuesday.

Herter Takes Over Post At Ceremony

President Says He Was the 'Best Person' for Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Christian A. Herter was formally sworn in today as the new secretary of state. President Eisenhower, standing at his side, proclaimed that Herter was the "best person" for the job.

Members of the Cabinet and congressional leaders from both parties watched as the 64-year-old former governor of Massachusetts took the oath in the Cabinet Room of the White House.

FOR AN OATH-TAKING ceremony, Eisenhower spoke at unusual length. The spirit of ailing John Foster Dulles, now the former secretary of state, dominated his remarks.

As the President handed Herter his commission of office, a white scroll tied with blue ribbon, the chief executive told Herter "You well know how you and I kept hoping and praying for Foster's early recovery in the hope that he could come back . . ."

HE WENT ON TO SAY that Herter —who has been undersecretary — also knew well that Dulles and the President had decided that he was "the best person to take his, Dulles place."

"As you undertake this mission, God bless you; and I am sure the people of the United States join me in that feeling."

Herter thanked the President, saying, "You can't know how much it means to me, having your confidence."

"YOU KNOW YOU have that," Eisenhower replied.

The oath was administered to Herter by Frank K. Sanderson, chief administrative officer of the White House. The President stood between them. Herter completed th oath with a firm-voiced "so help me God" at 12:17 p. m. (e.s.t.).

Herter was confirmed Tuesday by a Senate vote of 93-0 within four hours after the Foreign Relations Committee took up his nomination. The committee approved him 17-0.

Woman Hostage Holds No Grudge

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — A woman held for six terror-filled hours by two escaped convicts who threatened to slash her throat holds no grudge.

"I don't think they would really have killed me," Mrs. Louise Gechwend, 53, said Tuesday night. She described the escapees from San Quentin Prison, who surrendered meekly to guards, as "just scared kids."

"I hope they get a break," she said.

Mrs. Gechwend and a fishing companion, Douglas Harrison, 59, were grabbed as hostages Tuesday morning as the prisoners ran over a low hill and onto a T-shaped pier with guards in close pursuit.

STRING OF BODIES lies beside wreckage of Lincoln sedan smashed by Studebaker on Highway 99 at Twentynine Palms cutoff this morning. Six of seven persons involved—three men and three women —have already died as a result of the injuries sustained in the crash and the seventh is in "very critical" condition at Desert Hospital here. Man in foreground is holding finger in mouth of victim to prevent him from swallowing his tongue. Highway patrolmen, who ran out of blankets with which to cover the dead and dying, called tragedy the "worst the area's ever had." (Desert Sun Photo).

Water Company Expansion Plans Revealed Today

Facilities for serving a total of 180 new homes in the Tamarisk Country Club area are being readied by the Tamarisk Water Co., Sol Lesser, president of the utility firm, said today.

Lesser was re-elected yesterday to serve another term as president of the utility. Also elected, in the business meeting held at Tamarisk, were Maurice Turner, first vice president; Edgar Richards, second vice president; John Luthin, secretary, and Sidney Charney, treasurer.

TWO SUBDIVISIONS have filed for public convenience and necessity with the Tamarisk utility firm, Lesser said. He said the utility would furnish water for:

—A 140-home development north of the golf links, scheduled by Bud Morris.

—A 40-home project to be undertaken by the Frazer Construction Company on a portion of the Herb Legg Ranch.

TWO NEW PUMPS and one new well have been added to Tamarisk Water Company facilities for the purpose of handling the anticipated new water demand. The additions are at the west end of the links, off Wonder Palms Road.

Lesser also announced that two brothers, Maurice and Justin Turner, had completed purchase arrangements for a 200-acre portion of Tamarisk area property bordered by Del Sol, Wonder Palms, Avenue 39 and the eastern rim of the golf course.

Scotty Rubin, Two Women Injured in Redlands Accident

Scotty Rubin, 50, well - known Palm Springs resident and a leading Chicago, Ill., attorney, received minor injuries Monday evening in an automobile accident on the Crystal Springs grade near Redlands.

Rubin and his two passengers—Debra Summers, 31, and Antonette DeFillito, 26, both of New York — received emergency treatment at Redlands Community Hospital.

ACCORDING TO Redlands Police, Rubin's car struck the side of a truck and trailer which pulled across Highway 60-70-99 to make a turn. They said that the accident occured just four miles southeast of the center of town, at about 8 p.m.

The passengers of the car were taken to the hospital by ambulance, and a tow truck was called to tow the damaged 1958 Cadillac to the garage. Just as the tow truck was connected to the Rubin automobile, a road spark ignited gasoline that had spilled in the street and completely enveloped the car in flames. Drivers of the tow truck, Andy Anderson and Steve Wilson, both escaped injury, but the tow-truck was also badly damaged by the fire.

DRIVER OF the truck-trailer, Wayne C. Coker, 60, of Castorville, was not injured.

Rubin, most seriously injured of the three, received sutures across the bridge of the nose, on the right eyebrow, and across the chin. The two women suffered bruises and contusions. After treatment and X-rays the trio was released from the hospital.

Textile Plant Racked by New Violence Wave

HENDERSON, N. C. (UPI)—Rifle shots, a fire bomb and a hail of bottles marked the worst outbreak of violence Tuesday night in the more than five - month - old strike against the Harriet - Henderson Cotton Mills.

No injuries were reported. Authorities feared new outbreaks today by angered union members who found a lack of jobs despite an apparent week-end settlement of the strike.

West 'Package' Deal Readied For Geneva Meet

LONDON (UPI) — The western powers have worked out a major package deal to offer the Soviets at the forthcoming East-West talks in Geneva but the going is still uphill, diplomatic sources disclosed today.

The tentative plan worked out by experts from the United States, Britain, France and West Germany would link the unification of Germany with a two - phased program for controlling arms in Central Europe and gradually limiting the size of troops and armaments.

The plan thus postpones until later any pullback of western troops from Central Europe and makes it conditional on progress toward German unification. Britain yielded to pressure from her allies in agreeing to the scheme. Originally Britain wanted a thinning out of troops to come first.

Living Costs Remain Same During March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government reported today that living costs remained unchanged in March. Lower food prices offset increased cost of other goods and services.

The Labor Department's consumer price index registered 123.7 last month. This was a record for March and three-tenths of 1 per cent higher than a year ago.

H. E. RILEY, price chief of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the index has moved within a range of two-tenths of 1 per cent for the past nine months. This is the longest period of stability on record, Riley said.

But he said signs point to increased living costs in forthcoming months because of advances in food costs expected during the summer.

Because of past stability, 1,350,000 workers whose wages are geared to the index will not receive any cost of living pay boosts.

THE WORKERS include 900,000 railroad and 100,000 aircraft workers. The remaining 350,000 include General Electric and Sylvania employes.

March food prices dropped four-tenths of 1 per cent from February, largely because pork, eggs and fresh vegetables dropped sharply in price.

The department said weekly take-home pay of a factory worker with three dependents rose to $79.68 in March—an all - time peak.

One More Is Fighting For Survival

Accident Occurs At Twentynine Palms Cutoff

Three men and three women have died and one other woman is in "very critical" condition at Desert Hospital following a mid-morning collision at the Twentynine Palms cutoff on Highway 99.

Accident - hardened California Highway Patrol officers at the scene of the gruesome tragedy described the death-littered scene as "the worst this area has ever had."

CHP INVESTIGATORS, stressing that all identification was "highly tentative," said that persons involved included:

—Jean Marion Deluz, 41, of Anaheim, driver of a Studebaker sedan. Dead.

—Gertrude Veltre, 40, of Arcadia, a passenger in his car. Dead.

—Horace Porter, 74, of Banning, driver or passenger in a Lincoln sedan. Dead.

—Jack W. Fridman, 72, also of Banning, driver or pasenger in the Lincoln. Dead.

—Mrs. Martha Porter, 65, also of Banning, passenger in the Lincoln.

—Mrs. Ruth Fridman, no age given, also of Banning, passenger in the Lincoln.

—Mrs. Nora Pearl Baker, no age given, of Kansas City, Mo., passenger in the Lincoln.

ONE OF THE THREE women is still alive, but CHP officers said they could not make a positive identification at this time.

Riverside County Coroner's representative said that date for an inquest would be announced later today or tomorrow.

THE ACCIDENT, which apparently occurred about 10:30 a. m., defies CHP reconstruction at this point. No witnesses were available and the one survivor is still unable to talk. Hospital officials expressed the fear that she may not survive.

Best estimates on the wreck hold that a Lincoln sedan carrying three women and two men was attempting to turn into the Twentynine Palms cutoff when a Studebaker sedan traveling west on Highway 99 struck it slightly forward of the middle.

CHP OFFICERS said that the two men in the Lincoln and the woman in the Studebaker were dead when they arrived at the scene.

The driver of the Studebaker died before ambulances could be called. One of the women in the Lincoln died en route to Desert Hospital.

Another passenger in the Lincoln died at Desert Hospital in spite of feverish efforts by doctors to save her life.

The third passenger, still in critical condition at the hospital, could not be identified because of a mixup in purses.

THE FORCE OF the impact of the Studebaker into the Lincoln drove the smaller automobile almost completely through the heavy sedan, eye witnesses said.

"It was so far into the Lincoln that it was almost out the other side," said one CHP officer.

OFT-BITTEN YOUTH HIT BY RATTLER; ESCAPES UNHURT

A Village youth who has been struck by rattlesnakes so many times that he "can't remember how many" had a close call with a five-foot, seven-rattle red diamondback here yesterday.

Bob Howard, Jr., was kept under observation for approximately an hour at Palm Springs Medical Clinic after the rattler, captured Sunday by young Howard at Windy Point, struck him on the right thumb and forefinger.

The youth's parents disposed of the rattlesnake.

NEW AUDITORIUM PLAN IS OUTLINED TO CITY COUNCIL

First word of a proposed aluminum dome convention center — 2,000-seat auditorium—was heard yesterday when three members of a special committee appeared befor the City Council to present the outline of the project.

The proposal was presented by David Huenergardt, Pavilion Development Co. of Beverly Hills, who was backed in his talk by two Palm Springs residents, Mrs. John A. McClure and Mrs. Franklin MacCarthy.

AT AN ESTIMATED cost of $550,000-$650,000, the auditorium would be changeable to any number of uses, from a theater-in-the round to stage productions; from a dance pavilion to a convention facility.

Built in a circle measuring 145 feet in diameter, with an outside glass rotunda 27 feet wide, the top of the building would be the same as the famed aluminum dome theater at the Hawaiian Village in Honolulu.

According to Huenergardt, the building "will adapt to everything, and is convertible to every possible use."

THE BUILDING is being offered to the city as a package deal, complete with lighting and all facility changes.

Display booths could be set up in the rotunda, or inside the dome section of the hall, and the rotunda can be divided into individual meeting rooms.

MAYOR FRANK Bogert commented at the informal luncheon session at Huddle Springs that it "would be the making of Palm Springs," and asked that the proposal be taken to the Chamber of Commerce "so that they will be advised on the way the hall can be used."

Huenergardt said that the building could be purchased through a payment plan which would run approximately $63,000 a year; or purchased outright through a bond issue.

The matter will be taken under advisement.

MAJOR ENDOWMENT GIVEN POMONA BY JOHN HARNISH

CLAREMONT—A Palm Springs resident who had a hand in building such imposing edifices as Warner Brothers, Republic, MGM and NBC studios in the Los Angeles area has launched a new type of building, officials at Pomona College announced today.

John Harnish, a Village visitor since 1925 and a winter resident since 1945, has established the John Harnish Fund at the school, Vice President Allen F. Hawley said.

ALTHOUGH HAWLEY did not disclose the amount of the endowment, he did specify that it represents "one of the major endowments of the college."

Harnish, whose home is at 1835 Crestview Drive here, is a retired engineer and rancher. He formerly owned and operated his own engineering firm and managed such storied ranches as the Hidden Valley Ranch, Rancho Segundo, Panorama Ranch and Sanctuary Ranch, all of California and Palos Verdes Ranch in Arizona.

HARNISH SAID that both he and his family have derived "great gratification from the knowledge that the permanent John Harnish Fund will be used to educate countless college students through the years to come."

The onetime engineer said that he had placed administration of the fund in the hands of "dedicated and experienced business and professional people" who will render services without cost to the fund.

"This will enable the entire income of the fund to be applied to endowments," Harnish said.

HARNISH HAS A summer home at Lake Arrowhead but his major efforts are centered in the desert area, the college noted. He has developed property in Palm Springs, Araby Tract, Rancho Mirage and in Palm Desert.

Educated in Los Angeles himself, Harnish has been a Southern Californian since 1904.

Hawley, lauding Harnish's freely-given contribution to the furtherance of educational values said that the "educational and cultural future of the community" would be enhanced by the gift.

STEINBERG TO REPORT ON CONFERENCE IN ISRAEL

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lionel Steinberg, a longtime Coachella Valley and San Joaquin grape rancher who makes his home in Palm Springs, returned this week from Israel and the First World Farmers Convention. Steinberg, who attended as the official representative of U. S. Senator Clair Engle and California Governor Edmund Brown, has agreed to detail his impressions of the international meeting for The Desert Sun.—Editor.)

By LIONEL STEINBERG

JERUSALEM —Here in the ancient but modern city of Jerusalem—the cradle of Western civilization—I've been rubbing shoulders with more than 300 farmers from 31 nations all convened here to attend the first World Farmers Convention.

Colorfully clad Ghanians in vivid African togas mingle with Dutch bulb growers, with Cypriot vinterers, with Burmese and Indian rice farmers and with American horticulturists like myself.

THESE DELEGATES represent widely separated lands and completely diverse cultures. They speak a score of different languages but they all have one thing in common. They are united in the common struggle to liberate mankind from both hunger and the fear of hunger.

It is significant that this convention is being held in Israel. Here it was that the ancient kings, prophets, priests and judges, all springing from a race of farmers created a society which provided mankind with a prophetic vision of universal peace and justice in which nations could dwell together in harmony—"each man under his vine and fig tree" and "would not learn war any more."

ONE THING ABOUT the old and new Israel has not changed. The tradition of seeking out its leadership from the ranks of farmers still exists. Israels president, prime minister and seven of its 16 cabinet ministers are former farmers. The backbone of this coalition government is taken from the rural area. Although they represent only 15 per cent of the nation's population, they have a powerful say in the conduct of Israel's affairs.

It is easy for a Californian to become at home in Israel. The climate is similar, although the country does not have the intense heat that we have in the summer on the desert. Much of the terrain resembles that of Southern California and many of the water problems of Israel also resemble those of the Southland. Both locales, incidentally, are working on long-range plans to convert salt water into fresh water at a reasonable price in order to made desert land cultivatable.

THERE IS ONE important difference between our farmers and the Israelis. Our farmers do not have to work in their fields with a gun at their side. On a tour of the farms in the Jerusalem area which I took yesterday, I saw tractor drivers and herdsmen hard at work with rifles within easy reach in the event of an attack from across the nearby border which is presently quiet. Several settlements which I visited had suffered casualties in the fighting which occasionally flares up now and then.

My guide on the tour, by the way, was Zalman Raaport, director of the Pomology and Viticulture Division of the Ministry of Agriculture. I had the pleasure of introducing him to many Coachella and San Joaquin Valley farmers last year when he toured California to learn about some of our fruit-growing techniques.

ISRAELIS HAVE a particularly warm spot in their hearts for California because so many of their agricultural students are studying at our schools.

This good will is reciprocated by our governor (who has visited Israel) and who asked me to serve as his personal representative to the World Farmer Convention.

Senator Clair Engle, too, has taken a deep interest in this convention. In asking me for a report on my return from Israel, he commented that "countless millions would suffer from hunger and that the techniques explored in the convention consequently will be of global significance."

Next: Strides made by Israel in making its desert productive and plans for creating even greater productivity in seemingly barren wastes will be discussed in the next of Lionel Steinberg's series of columns.

AN AVID WATER SKIER at North Shore Beach, Salton Sea, is Kathy Sanborn, shown above whizzing past the development's pier and nearly completed clubhouse. Trav Rogers and Oilman Ray Ryan have scored a quartet of notable Salton Sea firsts with their $7,000,000, 1,000-acre residential community and marine playground. In addition to the clubhouse, North Shore Beach boasts the sea's first king-sized marina (400 boat capacity), pier (wet and dry dock facilities) and fresh water system ($1,000,000 pipeline now being laid). In brisk demand are the new community's seaview homesites, served by 10 miles of paved roads, income and business lots and North Shore Beach Yacht Club memberships. (Gayle Studio)

Smog Arrester Given Board

An "attach-it-yourself" gadget described as a "smog and irritant arrester" designed to purify automobile exhaust, was suggested this week to the Board of Supervisors by its designer, John Hogan of Palm Springs and Glendale, and referred to Clifton Seymour, air pollution control engineer.

Hogan presented the supervisors with blueprints of the device which he said he has processed for a patent and asked that they have Seymour give it consideration .

Cost of labor and materials for the gadget was estimated by Hogan to be $10. He said he believes it will be instrumental in relieving the smog problem in the Los Angeles basin and in Riverside County.

According to Hogan in actual tests placing exhaust within close range of walls and other objects, there has been no evidence of smudge. He claimed also that actual tests have shown that fumes after passing through the purifier are free from hydrocarbons, sulphur, oil vapor, and irritants which affect eyes and throat.

"I hope it works," commented Supervisor Paul Anderson.

Kettmann Story Featured in Law and Order

Chief of Police August G. Kettmann is featured in a full page story in the current (April) issue of Law and Order magazine.

The story was authored by Vollie Tripp, Palm Springs publicist who is well known for his handling of the annual Palm Springs Trailer Rally and Show.

Outlining Kettmann's career and background, Tripp reports that Palm Springs, "internationally famous as a playground and resort area, has a very high concentration of wealth. This makes it a mecca for con men and jewel thieves," and quotes the Chief as saying "where the sugar is, the flies go," which explains the police chief's unique problems in law protection.

'The Klub' to Hold Car Wash Sunday

"The Klub," a Palm Springs teen-age automobile club, will hold a car wash Sunday at Marty's Richfield Station at Palm Canyon and Ramon Road, it was announced today.

With proceeds to go to the organization's treasury, the car wash will be held from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., and the cost will be $1 for a wash job and $10 for a wax job.

UP, UP AND AWAY are the tomatoes growing behind the Able Beauty Salon at 272 North Indian Avenue. Luis and Amelia Antunez, who operate the shop, said they figured the tomatoes would grow to about six feet and halt. "They're over 10 feet tall now," Luis pointed out. "And no signs of stopping." A brother furnished Luis with the seeds for the planting, but didn't provide a solution for the picking of the plants. "Guess we'll have to get a step-ladder," Luis sighed. (Desert Sun Photo)

SALT WATER MAY BE NEW SOLUTION

Nuclear - powered salt water conversion plants may provide the most feasible answer to the water shortage problem in the Southland, Assembly Lee Backstrand reported this week.

The 71st District Assemblyman said that one of several Assembly subcommittees studying possible solutions to the growing need for water in Southern California's arid counties may prove to be the conversion method.

BACKSTRAND MADE the disclosure while discussing the status of water legislation as the Assembly nears the halfway mark on new legislation.

"One legislative field in which positive action may not occur for some time is water development," Backstrand said.

"Committees are constantly at work on the various bills and constitutional amendments relating to it, but new elements are constantly coming to the surface in their work."

THE ASSEMBLYMAN also forecast a lengthy wait — probably until mid-May — on Governor Edmund G. Brown's budget. Subcommittees of both legislative houses are studying the details of the budget preparatory to submitting it to the Senate and Assembly.

Backstrand did predict a shortening-up of new legislation as a result of the passage last year of statewide Proposition No. 9. After one month of the 1957 legislative session, nearly 6,800 bills had been introduced. With three months gone in this session, only 2,800 have been brought forth.

BILLS MAY BE legally introduced until the end of the session in June, Backstrand said.

"But under the new law," he added, "the last date which will enable action under the 30 - day rule will be about May 15."

The Assemblyman forecast that the next couple of weeks would probably see the last of new bill introductions.

Backstrand said that the passage of the new rule on bills has not only reduced the number of bills introduced, but has also resulted in "more careful drafting of bills."

Clarke to Speak Friday At Men's Club Meeting

John Robert Clarke will tell members of the Men's Club of St. Paul in the Desert Episcopal Church, "The Importance of Being Imperfect" when the group meets at 8 p. m., Friday.

Clarke, whose "Adventures in Living" series at the Desert Inn each Thursday has already managed to upend popular attitudes on lecturing habits here, will discuss the perfectionist and his "unhappy life" for the members of the church organization.

The globe-trotting lecturer, author and philosopher introduced a new format in lecturing into the "Adventures in Living" series in which he details a subject for approximately an hour, takes a coffee break and then returns—with chairs rearranged in a circular fashion—for a frank, open discussion with his audience.

C. Z. German, program chairman for the St. Paul's group, said that Clarke would apply the "traits of the perfectionist" to types of persons and that members of the club might find themselves in one or more such identification.

Tickets for the Men's Club meeting, which is to be held at St. Paul's, may be obtained by calling the church office for reservations by tonight, according to R. W. Peterson, president of the group. The church phone is FA 5-6988.

'HIRE A VETERAN WEEK' SCHEDULED

A new campaign to win jobs for veterans will be launched here next month with local observance of "Hire A Veteran Week."

The week of May 3 to 9 was proclaimed as Hire A Veteran Week by Gov. Edmund Brown and members of the Coachella Valley Veteran's Employment Committee plan to follow through with an area-wide advertising campaign.

Pointing up the need for new emphasis on veterans's employment, County Service Officer Paul Ingam reported that 10 per cent of the nation's "ailing veterans" live in California, and "seven per cent of these live in Riverside County."

Ingam told committee officers that his office has started a new veterans' service in Indio. Leonard Neely, assistant county service officer, will visit the Indio Department of Employment office from 1 to 3 p.m. the first Monday of each month to aid veterans.

Neely also visits Palm Springs the same day, offering veterans service at the American Legion Hall from 10 a.m. until noon.

NEW WORKSHOP SET FOR SUMMER

PALM DESERT — A new drama workshop has been programmed for the months of May, June and July at the Palm Desert Leisure Loft, loft director Lou Kuehner announced today.

The workship will feature guest lectures, play readings, stagings and discussions in a program designed as an "aid to those seeking information and fun in learning and participating in the theatre," Keuhner said.

WEEKLY WORKSHOP activities start May 7, at 7:30 p.m., and continue through July.

Coordinated by Ben Jutzi, the workshop will feature rehearsed readings once each month for an invited audience, a series of weekly guest lectures and demonstrations and active participation in acting and production techniques.

Lectures scheduled include discussion of "The Theater — All Its Aspects," by Ben Jutzi; "Stock Companies," by Michael and Marian Farrell; "Show Biz - Vaudeville," Clay Stearns, and "Community Theaters," by Mr. and Mrs. Micheal Carney.

FUTURE LECTURE topics include acting methods, creative dramatics, dance and the theater, motion picture and television production techniques and similar subjects.

Registrations for the workshop are being accepted at the Leisure Loft. Proceeds from the workshop will be divided between the loft and a Drama Workshop Fund to finance plays and stage equipment.

John Norie Is Only Winner Here of State Scholarship

A 17-year-old Palm Springs High School senior has been chosen by the California State Scholarship Commission as the only desert area recipient of 1959-60 State Scholarship assistance.

John Burton Norie, 17, told The Desert Sun today that he would utilize the aid in matriculating at Harvey Mudd College in Claremont. Norie, who will major in engineering at the school, said that he had received notification this week that the school had accepted him for entrance.

THE YOUNG engineering student is one of 735 students throughout the State of California to be approved for scholarship aid by the commission.

Under provisions of the grant, Norie will receive up to $600 per year at the college of his choice.

Young Norie was a 1958 delegate from Palm Springs High School to Boys State at Sacramento. This year he was winner of the science and mathematic division in Bank of America Achievement Awards presented at Palm Springs High School, a member of the Indian swimming team and vice president of the school's Scholarship Society.

THE YOUTH, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Norie, lives at 1427 San Lucas Drive here.

The California State Scholarship Commission noted that Norie's name will bring to 2,560 the total number of students receiving scholarship aid from the state.

"LITTLE FISHERMAN" David Myers came up with a big one when he went casting in Tahquitz Creek last week. The young Thousand Palms nimrod nabbed this eight-inch model "after a pretty good battle." David's dad, George Myers, works for Plaza Oldsmobile-Cadillac and the youngster stopped to show off his prize when the photographer showed up, snapped the two of them. (Desert Sun Photo)

The Desert Sun is an independent newspaper dedicated to truth, accuracy and impartiality in the news; to the progress of the desert region; to the support of that which it believes to be right and to the defeat of that which it believes to be wrong.

Local Utilities Gaining in Effort to Serve New Customers

Population gains in the desert region surrounding Palm Springs have been so rapid that the various public utilities have been hard put to keep pace with steadily increasing demands for service.

Percentage-wise, the rate of new connections for gas, water, electricity and telephone customers has been the highest in this section for any comparable locality in the State. This has been the case for several years and far from showing any sign of leveling off, on the contrary is still rising in all categories.

On the whole, the several utilities have responded quite successfully in meeting the mounting requirements and although some delays and inconveniences have been inevitable, most have been fulfilled as soon and satisfactorily as could reasonably be expected.

Hardest pressed has been the telephone company which has a more complicated situation than most due to the multiplicity of problems and time requirements involved in extensions and supplying additional service.

There are a number of basic peculiarities to speeding up telephone installations which are hard to overcome. In the first place the telephone instrument itself is a delicate mechanism in short supply only obtainable through orders placed considerably in advance. Station and line materials likewise are slow in procurement. Actual extensions are a careful, complicated and time-consuming process.

In spite of these handicaps to hurrying, steady progress is being made in catching up with the backlog of orders for new telephone service in the desert section and officials of the local company now forecast that within the next few months, at latest by summer's end, customers can expect installations to be performed within the time period usual in any growing community.

It is vitally important to the continued growth of this part of the desert that all utilities are readily available for expansion. The forecast of more adequate telephone service, along with the assurance of adequate ability of the companies supplying gas, water and electricity to keep pace with the record local development is most encouraging to both present and future customers.

To Make or Break

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There are king-makers, and also king-breakers. It lies in the power of two good men. Senators John McClellan (D., Ark.) and Clinton Anderson (D., N. M.) to nip the buds which hold the careers of two other men. The first of these could rule as the next Democratic President. The other could rule behind the next Republican President.

Much of Senator John Kennedy's presidential hopes rest with his ability to put his version of a Labor reform through the 86th Congress. If the present bill, introduced by Kennedy and slightly modified in committee, passes into law, two matters will redound to the credit of this young White House aspirant.

IN THE FIRST place, he will have pleased the public which is demanding a law to curb abuses by the Labor bosses. In the second place, Kennedy will have pleased the Labor bosses who want to mollify the public demand with a bill that glints like steel but yields like marshmallow.

Well, there is one man in the Senate who could bust the Kennedy bubble. John McClellan is identified in the public mind as chairman of the Labor rackets subcommittee, and as the scourge of the wicked bosses like Beck, Brewster and Hoffa. McClellan is without a rival as the "people's choice" when they think of expert knowledge on the seamy side of the Labor movement.

MCCLELLAN HAS a bill of his own, which is much tougher than the Kennedy-bred bill. If the short-tempered, high-spirited Arkansan, a whirling dervish of denunciation when he's stirred to wrath, were to attack the Kennedy bill in Senate debate, the event would almost surely scuttle the young man's presidential ambitions.

Meanwhile, on the Republican side, a lofty career is at the critical stage. Lewis Strauss' name is before the Senate for confirmation as Secretary of Commerce, a post where he has served since last November. Strauss cannot win without the consent of Senator Clinton Anderson, who brings one of the warmest personalities and best brains to the innermost circle of the Senate leadership.

THE SENATOR and the Secretary - designate have been feuding ever since Anderson, in 1954, started reading the fine print in Strauss' atoms-for-business contract, the doomed pact known as Dixon-Yates. Whatever the merits of that deal (and they were considerable), Dixon-Yates was to the Strauss-Anderson relationship what a match is to a gas-filled room.

Admiral Strauss, a financier-statesman of Hamiltonian brilliance and complexity, must win this confirmation test — or go into total eclipse as a public figure. His career began as a young aide to Herbert Hoover, continued in minority party capacities through the New and Fair Deals, reached full glory under President Eisenhower as Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission until last year. Strauss did not choose to stand for reappointment as AEC chairman after a White House check that he would be rejected by the Senate.

BUT IF STRAUSS can remain as Commerce Secretary, close to the President's elbow, he will continue to wield far more power in politics and Administration policy than the country knows. Should Nelson Rockefeller be elected President next year, Strauss, long an associate in the Rockefeller family projects, seems a sure bet for a Cabinet post.

How he sits with Vice President Nixon is less certain — but no Republican President would be rich enough in advisory talents to ignore those of this remarkable but difficult man. But first — will the king - breaker from New Mexico allow Strauss to win this "must" test of Senate confirmation?

WITH McCLELLAN, the Kennedy key, and with Anderson, the Strauss signaler of thumbs up or thumbs down, human traits are paramount. Both these senior Senators often appear crusty and immersed in depths of introspection. Anderson, given up for dead as a tuberculosis victim many years ago, has lived on borrowed time. McClellan is bowed with family tragedy. But within each man is a streak of native kindness and of well-wishing for his fellow human beings.

McClellan, who could break John Kennedy, has made a protege of the younger brother, Robert, the rackets subcommittee counsel. Like Bob Kennedy, whose children have been threatened by Labor hoodlums, McClellan knows something about living in anxiety for his sons. The indications are that McClellan will speak for his own bill, but will not lower the boom on the Kennedy measure.

ANDERSON, WHO could put the quietus on Strauss' career, is a long-time friend, one-time bridge companion of Admiral Strauss' boss, Dwight Eisenhower. There are half a dozen semi-public incidents when Anderson, who could have pushed the head of an Ike appointment under the water, has let him live.

So, an early estimate is that the king-breakers will stay their hands and let their putative victims survive — but you never can tell. —Holmes Alexander

Chuckles in the News

Question Answered

LONDON (UPI) — A reader of the Daily Telegraph said today he wrote to the Ministry of Health about his hearing aid and was told in future replies he should refer to:

"IV V 1 — RHB5-19-2C-219. SR."

Wrong Pew

NEW YORK (UPI) — A search was under way today for a statue of the last Inca, Atahualpa, believed to be somewhere in the United States.

For 100 years a statue supposedly of Atahualpa has graced the plaza of Cuzco, Peru, but it really is one of Powhatan, father of Pocohantas, shipped to Cuzco by mistake by a Philadelphia foundry.

No Complaints

COLDWATER, Mich. (UPI) — There were no taxpayer complaints when the city council voted itself a 150 per cent pay increase.

The council gets no pay, so 100 per cent of nothing is still nothing.

Request Denied

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mrs. Marily L. Ware, 27, asked for a divorce on grounds her husband, Henry, 31, squirted her with a water pistol. The jury turned her down.

Almost Made It

DUBUQUE, Iowa (UPI) — Benny Russo was 36 inches away from freedom again today at the county jail. A jailer said he found him only six inches away Thursday, he had chiseled 30 inches into his cell wall with a steel bed slat.

Can't Keep Up

YORK, England (UPI) — East Riding County officials said they were sorry, but there seemed to be nothing they could do about a complaint contained in the annual report of County Librarian E. W. Fryer.

He had protested bitterly that too many books are being printed.

The Hours Are Long

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told a labor union audience Thursday night he didn't understand why Labor Party Leader Hugh Gaitskell is so eager to get his job.

"Ten Downing Street is nothing but a sweat shop," Macmillan said with a smile.

QUOTES

CHICAGO—Gen. William Kitching of London, world commander of the Salvation Army, on love among the evangelists:

"A Salvation Army officer can marry only another officer. When he proposes, he may have to say, 'Dear, will you marry me and attend our officers' training school?' It's a fine way to recruit new officers."

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

Just a bit of
Midweek musing
From the news
I've been perusing.

Let's wander afield this week and comment on some of the stuff that comes over our two teletypes and on items noted in the newspapers, trade papers and other media which clutters the desk the management kindly stuck in the corner of The Desert Sun newsroom so that the Old Emeritus could sit and loaf in surroundings to which he is accustomed.

FIRST, there's that item about the woman, making a left turn when she was smacked by the following car.

She had thrust out her left arm straight in the proper manner and also had set her turn indicator correctly.

"Didn't you see me signal" she demanded angrily.

"I did, lady, I did," admitted the offending driver meekly, "but I didn't think you meant it. So few women do."

THEN THERE IS that classified advertisement in a trade paper.

"FOR SALE—One television set cheap. Slightly damaged as result of blow by fist."

ALSO NOTED in a journal devoted to propaganda to boost travel by air, the following statistics:

One hundred years ago when stage coaches first started their route from Tipton, Mo., to the Pacific coast, a passenger had to scrounge 75 meals en route.

Now, says this statistician from the American Air Lines, a passenger in one of these new jet carriers, can go, not only from Missouri to the coast but coast to coast, between breakfast and lunch in a single day.

NOW, THIS isn't anything I read but is gleaned from gossip overhead while awaiting the arrival of a friend from the east at the International Airport in Los Angeles.

If true, it will put Palm Springs much closer to transcontinental flights.

These two airline officials were discussing the Ontario airport which may become the main airport of the southland.

THEY SAID, among other things, that it is actually faster to bus passengers from downtown Los Angeles to the Ontario airport via the freeways than to the Inglewood airport.

That the Ontario airport is expanding its runways to more than accommodate the biggest jet liners.

That it is rarely weather-bound.

THE BIG COMPANIES are now applying for office space there, so they said.

By auto, Ontario is just a little more than a hour from Palm Springs—driving at a reasonable rate. By air, much less. Local flights to Los Angeles now stop at Ontario.

So, if those two fellows know what they're talking about, we'll be much closer to the big mid-western northwestern and eastern population centers.

Until we get our own direct flights in all directions, that will do.

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

The New York weather turned up to an unseasonable 80 degrees when I arrived, jet-propelled in four hours and 45 minutes from San Francisco.

Even the evening was warm when we climbed out of the enormous TWA cabin, all 118 of us. The ground crew assured us that Spring was here. The taxi driver forecast that the buds would be out in Central Park.

I CHECKED in at the Stanhope in the Upper Eighties and looked across to the park. The trees were gray and bare. The temperature might be 80 degrees. But they knew, they knew.

There was a fine blare of music under my window on Fifth Avenue this morning. And when I looked out, the sky was overcast and a parade was going by the Metropolitan Museum across the street.

THERE WAS a line of mounted police. Then the parade marshal and the assistant marshals. They wore black swallowtail coats and carried high silk hats in their hands.

They were followed by floats and marchers and cars full of pretty girls who waved at a rather sparse crowd on the damp sidewalks.

The floats said they were celebrating Puerto Rico's contribution to New York.

"Do they want statehood?"

"NOT PUERTO Rico," said the doorman. "Way they're fixed now, you go to Puerto Rico you pay no income tax. Forgive and forget, that's their motto. It's just the Spring parade."

He pointed out that the dividing line in Fifth Avenue was painted green.

"Left over from St. Patrick's Day. It's the season for parades."

REASSURED I went back upstairs and turned on the Spring song. I budded the trees in Central Park. I burst jonquils into bloom. I rolled the typewriter in the daffodils.

I wrote a small prose poem in praise of P. J. Moriarty, the Sixth Avenue publican. Then I went down and picked up P. J. himself and we drove out to Connecticut.

The weather was brisk and a spatter of rain fell on the windshield.

"You're sure it's Spring?" I asked anxiously.

"No doubt there'll be blossoms in the yard when we arrive," he said.

HALFWAY UP the parkway I noticed the rain was beginning to stick beneath the wiper.

"That wouldn't be snow, would it?"

"In April?" said P. J.

In Westport, we turned off to visit the wooded acres of Gordon Manning, a Newsweek editor. The Manning family was huddled around a fire and the wind blasted us outside the car.

"If it's Spring," I said, "what is all the white stuff in the air?"

"It's a LATE Spring," said P. J. Moriarty.

SO WHAT with wind howling like a banshee around the house and the log fire blazing, we spent a literary evening. Second-guessing Fowler and discussing the publishing business.

And when we came out, the whole country lay under a thin white blanket. Big flakes fell through the wooded countryside.

And we drove back down to New York with a layer of snow piled from windshield to tailpipe.

The daffodil story was still tucked in the U.S. mailbox outside the hotel. And I nearly froze my hands trying to reach in and get it back.

But it was too late. (And too early, too.)

HARTSVILLE, Ind. (UPI)—Fire Chief William Riley complained today that emergency volunteer firemen assigned to assist the regular fire department are all together too eager in their work.

On occasion, Riley said, the "irregulars" have taken off on the fire truck before the regulars arrived, and haven't even left word where the fire is.

EARL WILSON: Lonesome for Lonesome George

NEW YORK — "George Gobel wouldn't recognize his ugly old wife Alice now—I lost 16 pounds," Jeff Donnell said from under a pretty black hat.

"George always said after three martinis he got funnier and taller. Oh well," she grumbled good-humoredly, "nobody ever recognizes me.

"I played Alice for four years. But she was such a shrew and never smiled. I smile sometimes."

Jeff Donnell smiled just then, most attractively.

"To show you — I play a nurse in my next TV show ("Little Tin God" on CBS this Wednesday) and I have to give a hypo shot.

"I went to a hospital and said, 'I'm playing a nurse and would like to know how to give a hypo. The nurse not only didn't recognize me — I'm sure she thought I was a narcotics addict!"

Figuring that a girl who changed her name from Jean Marie to Jeff while looking at a Mutt and Jeff comic strip might do other strange things, he keeps her on a budget so she won't go bankrupt buying flowers.

"I make special deals with one florist," Jeff said. "One day he said, 'Why don't you come to work for me? A lot of girls do part-time work.' He didn't recognize me, either."

As the mother of a 17½-year-old son named Mikie, at 37, Jeff was flattered.

"At my age do you think I'm too old to be called 'Jeff' " she asked, across a table at Sardis East. "One advantage is that sometimes I get Jeff Chandler's very passionate fan mail.

"I passed him on the Hollywood Freeway once and I yelled 'I get your mail!' He acted like I was crazy or something."

Jeff's landed three non-comedienne TV roles and signed for a dramatic role in a B'way show, "Faster, Faster," for fall — but she admits missing her ex-husband, Lonesome George.

It was suggested she might return to his show as his wife when he begins his half-hour format on CBS in the fall.

"Oh, I don't see how. I'm a New Yorker now," said Jeff (who was born in Maine and brought up in Maryland and Connecticut).

"But George was such fun. Like that time he and Alice stole that tombstone in Chicago. Six sober people couldn't have carried it, but they got it home. George said you never knew when you might need a tombstone."

MIKE CONNOLLY: U-I Buys Flop of 1954

HOLLYWOOD — Universal-International bought Shirley Booth's Broadway flop of 1954, "By the Beautiful Sea," for Doris Day. Well, "Johnny Belinda" was a stage flop too but look what it did for Jane Wyman! The show will be completely rewritten for Doris, of course. The guy they're eyeing for the ditty-&-dance duets with Doris is Rock Hudson.

But here's the craziest switch yet: Chuck Walters, who quit as director of the legit musical because he couldn't see eye-to-eye with Miss Booth on how it should be staged, will direct the celluloid "Sea" — so now we'll see who was right, Shirley or Chuck?

SPEAKING OF music, each day is Valentine's Day for Inger Stevens, whose suicide attempt was thwarted by one-time suitor Dave Tebet in New York a few months ago, and songwriter Jimmy ("All the Way") Van Heusen.

Ben Hecht, who professes to hate Hollywood, is bringing his play, "Winkelberg," which Broadway hated so much that the customers stayed away in droves, to Hollywood. It's based on Ben's old poet-novelist buddy from Chicago's old Dill Pickle Club, Maxwell Bodenheim, who died in poverty in New York recently. For his Coast revival of the show, Ben has drawn a bead on Bob Brubaker, now playing Clarence Darrow in the Hollywood Omnibus Theatre's production of "Compulsion," to play Bodenheim.

I FELL OUT OF my projection room chair at Paramount over a gag trailer preceding the showing of Jimmy Cagney's "Shake Hands with the Devil" in which Jim Irish-brogues an introduction to the plot — in Yiddish! It's something you won't be seeing in the theatres, I'm sorry to say. What makes the trailer particularly funny is Jim's own part in the picture, which was shot entirely in Ireland — that of a fanatical patriot during the Ould Sod's "Troubles" with the Black and Tans in the '20s.

I think you'll agree, incidentally, that his brogue is perfect, and well it might be — Barry Fitzgerald coached him.

I'M NOT BEING chauvinistic: "Devil" is a dandy of a movie, in the tradition of "The Informer," with such fine actors from Dublin's Abbey Players as Eileen Crowe and Noel Purcell playing little more than bit parts and, strangest of all, such brilliant Britishers as Glynis Johns, Michael Redgrave and Dame Sybil Thorndike all playing Irish patriots as though to the brogue born.

Plus which Dana Wynter and Don Murray provide the frothy foam atop this bracing draught of Guinnesss Stout, as the romantic leads . . . And who, pray produced this "devoutly Irish" film? Pennebaker Productions, headed by Protestant Marlon Brando and his two partners of the Jewish faith, George Glass and Walter Seltzer.

CHANNEL CHATTER — This year's Emmy Nominations have caused more consternation along Tinseltown's Television Row than a bulldog at the International Cat Show. LAST CRUEL JOKE?

Fates Still On Trail Of Akins

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fates seemed determined today to play one last cruel joke on Virgil Akins, the man they installed with such tantalizing brevity as the welterweight champion of the world.

Akins won the title last June and his camp boasted that he would "hold it for five years." Six months later, in his first defense, the man who had fought so long and so fruitlessly lost it to young Don Jordan.

Now he surprisingly has been installed as 7 to 5 favorite to regain the crown in their return at St. Louis on Friday night despite the persistent insinuations along the boxing beat that he is "through."

There are many factors against Akins rebounding to the heights. The first of these is that, at 31, he is regarded as an old man of the ring because of the long, bitter road he followed to the top. He was, like ancient Archie Moore and stringy Joe Brown, a man for whom the breaks came late.

WHEN THE OPPORTUNITY finally did arrive, Akins hit the jack pot in celebrated style. He knocked out Vince Martinez in four rounds to pick up the double abandoned by Carmen Basilio when the rugged onion farmer ate himself into the middleweight class for a crack at Ray Robinson.

But Martinez that night was a caricature of a determined challenger. His forte was speed and he couldn't move. Akins, a paralyzing puncher, virtually put him away with the first punch although he cozied his way to the finish.

It was a different matter when, six months later, Akins defended against the 24-year-old Jordan. The Californian went to him, bulled him, tied him up and shackled his fire power. Thus the man billed to rule for five years stooped down in six months.

They must figure now, those who make the odds, that he has turned "hungry" again since those six high months of championship living. They remember that big punch and they analyze that in his home town he will be putting forth top effort once again.

BUT THOSE WHO make a business of boxing, and are uninfluenced one way or another in this one, deny that the "hunger" and, more important, the reflexes, can be regained. They point, too, to the rocky, rutted road which Akins has followed and whisper that this is not a dedicated warrior such as Moore or Brown.

They say that once again Jordan will outspeed him, crowd him and dazzle him with a flicking jab and lightning combos while Akins holds that right hand cocked for an opening which never comes. It will be interesting to witness the truth or fiction of their analysis but you have to feel a certain sympathy for the favored veteran who actually is shouldering the odds.

Bramwell, Magda Rurac Win BD Benefit Tourney

Chilsons Win Low Net Prize In First Event

Clark Bramwell and Magda Rurac of Indian Wells CC posted a gross 76 to win the first Mixed Scotch event at Bermuda Dunes Country Club yesterday in a benefit tournament for the Palm Springs Animal Protective League.

Low net winners were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chilson of Tamarisk Country Club who carded a 70.

DAN THORNTON, former governor of Colorado and Mrs. Earl Buckingham, Thunderbird Country Club, were second low net with a 71.

Tied for third low net were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Evans, Thunderbird; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Dawson, Eldorado CC; Bart Prom and Shelby Hunsinger, Indian Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Townsend, Thunderbird, Russell Wade and Judy Howard, Thunderbird. All had 72s.

THIRTY THREE twosomes took part in the tournament with all proceeds going toward the fund to build an animal shelter here under the auspices of the Animal Protective League.

A cocktail party, dinner and auction Monday night at the Bermuda Dunes CC Clubhouse also raised a substantial sum for the shelter fund.

Tony Burke was chairman of the event.

Court Rules Aaainst Ray

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sugar Ray Robinson must sign for a title bout with Carmen Basilio or risk having his middleweight crown vacated by the New York State Athletic Commission, Justice Saul Streit ruled today.

The court acted on an application by Robinson to prevent the commission from vacating his title unless he agreed to a fight with Basilio by April 15.

Furillo Wants to Play--or be Sent To Another Club

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Outfielder Carl Furillo, one of the players most closely identified with past Dodger glory, demanded today he be allowed to play more regularly —or be traded to another club.

"I'm no good to the team on the bench or to myself," said Furillo, who has a .300 batting mark for 13 major league seasons. He hit .290 last year and led the club in runs batted in with 83, but has appeared in only five games this year.

Furillo, 37, aired his beef with E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, who told him to talk with Walt Alston, the Dodger manager. Alston, according to Carl, advised the veteran to be in condition and ready to play.

"Then I told him to make a deal," said Furillo. "I don't hit just looking at mediocre batting practice."

Littler Sharp in Prep For Vegas Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—A solid practice round on the Desert Inn course indicated today that Gene Littler, three-time winner of the Tournament of Champions, was entitled to his role as favorite in the 7th annual golf classic.

A 5-1 choice, Littler enhanced his favorite role with a two-under-par 69 Tuesday in preparation for the beginning of tournament play Thursday.

He turned in nines of 35-34 as he toured the course with Gary Player, Paul Harney and defending champion Stan Leonard.

But the best rounds of the day were four-under-par 67s by Wes Ellis and Bill Collins.

Another favorite, Masters champion Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., had a 70 in practice. He is 7-1 to win.

If the warm weather—with temperatures in the mid-70s—continues until the winds stay down, record scores are predicted when the 26 competitors go for broke Thursday.

The 26 represent the cream of the golfing world this year. To be eligible for the Tournament of Champions, a player has to win one of the nation's major meets during the year.

Rose Bowl Pact Believed Doomed

EVANSTON, Ill. — (UPI) — The Big Ten's football pact with the Rose Bowl seemed doomed today by an adverse vote from Northwestern University.

The conference won't take official action on the soon-to-expire contract until next month at a meeting in Ann Arbor, Mich., but Northwestern's "no" vote announced Tuesday night indicates a probably 5-5 voting tie that would block renewal of the pact.

The Big Ten will send a team to the Jan. 1, 1960 game, but after that, at least a gap in the 13-year string of Big Ten appearances in the Coast classic appears certain.

Ohio State, Minnesota and Illinois faculty groups previously had voted against another Rose Bowl agreement. Northwestern was the fourth school to vote. Wisconsin votes May 4 and is regarded as virtually certain to oppose the renewal. A 5-5 vote in the final countdown at the Big Ten meeting at the University of Michigan May 21-23 would veto a renewal.

Up to now, faculties at Purdue and Michigan have voted in favor of another Rose Bowl agreement. Indiana, Iowa and Michigan State have not yet voted, but are expected to favor the plan.

Palm Springs Indians made their first home stand of the 1959 Riverside County League baseball season a winning one yesterday when they defeated Beaumont High 4 to 2 in a close game at the Polo Grounds.

It was tight all of the way with Leroy Segundo hurling a seven-hitter to hold down the Cougars who up to yesterday were the slugging outfit of the RCL.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE game was the theft of home by Lennie Ruiz. Joe Lewis contributed the timely single that gave the Tribe an extra run to make it sure.

It took a former Indian, Chris Knott, now playing in a Beaumont uniform, to give Segundo the most trouble. He hit three of the visitors seven singles.

THE GAME ENDED the first round of the league. The second round starts Thursday with San Jacinto here. San Jac is now in second place a game behind the Indians.

The Indians won over the Tigers in the first game of the first round on the San Jacinto field, 8 to 4 and Coach George Scholl's boys are out to repeat and increase their lead in the race.

SECOND BASEMAN Marty Berk of the league-leading Palm Springs High School baseball team prepares to put the tag on Beaumont short-stop Charlie Knott in fourth inning of yesterday's fray. Indians won it, 4-2, to remain on top in league standings. This play was sweet vengeance for Palm Springs since Knott was an All-RCL choice here last season and moved to Beaumont this year. "Smiley" Knott still hurt the Indians, getting three for four to take full command of the league's batting lead. (Desert Sun Photo)

Dodgers Given Green Light for Chavez Ravine

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — Barring the remote possibility that the U.S. Supreme Court will enter into the case, the Los Angeles Dodgers today had the green light to proceed with construction of their Chavez Ravine baseball stadium.

The California Supreme Court, in a second ruling on suits to block transfer of 300 acres of land in Chavez Ravine to the Dodgers, held that the city did not violate public purpose restrictions in deeds to the land it negotiated to transfer to the baseball club.

Dodger president Walter F. O'Malley immediately expressed the hope that with "hustle" the club could get started on the 55,000-seat stadium in time to have it ready for opening day next year.

Opposition attorney Phill Silver said he would continue to fight the Chavez Ravine contract. He said his first step would be to file a motion for a rehearing with the state Supreme Court, a preliminary move to taking the case before the U.S. Supreme Court. He said he would file his cases with the nation's highest court by May 12.

Cleveland's Booming Bats Dominating AL

By FRED DOWN, United Press International

Frank Lane does a lot of shouting for the Cleveland Indians but even he's drowned out by the thunder of the Tribe's booming offense.

And you'll have to excuse Manager Joe Gordon, the ex-Yankee great, if he's confused because nobody told him his Indians would remind him of the old "Murderer's Row" teams for which he played. For that's exactly what they're doing with seven victories in eight games and a whopping average of 6.6 runs scored per game.

THE INDIANS PILED up their biggest score of the season Tuesday night when they crushed the Detroit Tigers, 14-1, and retained a two-game grip on first place in the American League.

Mickey Mantle hit the 250th homer of his career as the Yankees whipped the Washington Senators, 11-4, the Kansas City Athletics beat the Chicago White Sox, 8-3, and the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Boston Red Sox, 5-2, in other AL activity. The Milwaukee Braves made it five wins in six decisions with a 7-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds, Glen Hobbie pitched a one-hitter as the Chicago Cubs topped the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, and Don Demeter's three two-run homers gave the Los Angeles Dodgers an 11-inning 9-7 win over the San Francisco Giants in National League games.

WARREN SPAHN chalked up the 248th victory of his career and beat the Reds for the 51st time despite a brilliant performance by rookie Vada Pinson who drove in all Cincinnati's runs with a homer, double and single. Hank Aaron raised his league-leading batting average to .567 with a triple, double and single.

Demeter hit two-run homers in the third, fourth and 11th innings and Don Zimmer walloped a three-run homer to account for all the Dodgers' runs in their three-hour and 47-minute marathon from the Giants.

LITTLE INTEREST SHOWN IN NEW SUBDIVISION LAW

Except for changes in filing fees for tentative and final subdivision maps no definite changes were made this week in the proposed new subdivision ordinance on which a hearing was held before the Board of Supervisors. Further discussion and hearing on the ordinance will be held May 18 at 10 a.m.

Adequacy of fees as given in the ordinance was questioned by Bryant Chandler, speaking for the tax committee of the Riverside County Farm Bureau. "The county shouldn't subsidize a commercial operation," he declared. "We ask that the board give critical scrutiny to see that the county recovers its costs in full."

ADMINISTRATIVE Officer Robert T. Andersen said he had just received information that the average costs of processing subdivision maps lun from $95 to $100. At his suggestion, the filing fee for both tentative and final maps was changed from $10 for 20 lots or less plus $1 per numbered lot, to $75 plus $1 per numbered lot, and the fee for 21 to 100 lots was changed from $20 to $75 plus 50 cents per numbered lot, with the "21 to 100" changed to "21 or more."

The provision for a fee of $45 plus 25 cents per numbered lot for more than 100 lots was deleted. Left in the ordinance was the provision that in no event shall the fee be less than 50 cents an acre.

FLOOD CONTROL Engineer John Bryant said he would like more time to study the ordinance, a copy of which had just reached him. He expressed alarm at a section which states in part that "streets and highways shall not be used as flood channels." He said that streets, especially in the desert area, can serve both purposes. "Many streets are now designed to be used for overflow from the larger storms," he said.

Only one subdivider, Marvin Krantz of Desert Hot Springs, made any comment this week. Krantz said he would like to see larger lot requirements, and the elimination of the curb and gutter requirement in the desrt area. "There should really be two ordinances," he declared, "one for rural resort areas, and one for the more metropolitan areas. The people in resort areas should have more elbow room."

KRANTZ ALSO suggested that surveys be required for all proposed developments, whether for one or more parcels. "Every time a map is recorded the tax on the property goes up," he told the supervisors. "I know of one instance where the tax was quadrupled. You shouldn't strangle the goose that lays the golden egg."

The new ordinance requires that nine acres or less be filed as a subdivision (rather than as a Record of Survey) so that it will be subject to the requirements for streets, water, etc. Even though a property be divided into no more than four lots on which neither a Record of Survey or subdivision is required by state law, the new ordinance makes application to the planning staff mandatory. Approval by the planning staff is a green light without which it becomes necessary to go to the planning commission.

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: I am a single man, age 35 and I live in a rooming house. There is a young woman (about 27) who has a room in the back apartment; mine is in front and there is a bathroom in between us. She has a clothesline strung up in the bathroom and every night she washes out her underwear and hangs it up. I get up first and see these things in the bathroom every morning. She must have only two sets of underwear because one set is on the line every single morning. Both sets are getting very ragged so I guess that's all she has. Would it be too personal a gift for me to give her some new underwear? I am not very forward and it might be a good way to get better acquainted. SQUARE SHOOTER

DEAR SQUARE: A gift of intimate apparel would be out of order. If you want t oknow her better, engage her in conversation casually like a gentleman Duz. Good Lux.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 19 and so is her boy friend. Her father and I are worried about the car this boy takes our daughter out in. He has a 1934 Ford with a big Oldsmobile motor in it. My husband is a mechanic by trade and he sayst he motor is too heavy for the car. Also, this boy puts his car together any old way and my husband says it is a wonder it stays in one piece for an hour. The minute we criticize this boy or his car our daughter bursts into tears. Do we have a right to say anything or not?

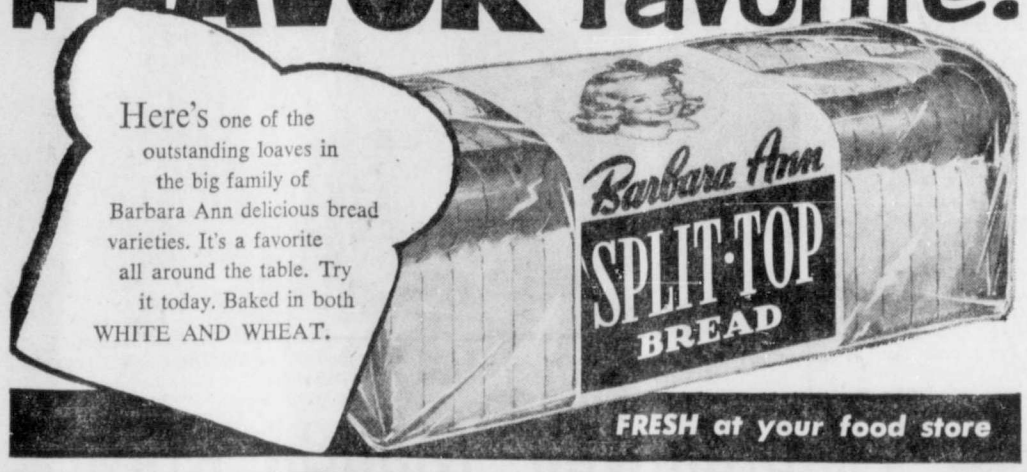

WORRIED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: It's the DUTY of parents to keep their children safe. If your husband feels that this boy's car is dangerous, he should tell the BOY (not your daughter) and if possible, help him to put something safer together.

Thunderbird gave its members a week to recover from income tax shock . . . before staging After Taxes Brawl . .

It won't be an unhappy occasion . . . there'll be dancing that night to the music of Teddy Noell and his orchestra . . .

A son, Gregg Lockett Henry, weighing eight pounds, seven ounces, was born April 14 at Riverside Community Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Henry Jr. His mother is the former Sallie Lockett, daughter of Mrs. D. M. Lockett, who won't make the acquaintance of her grandson until July when she returns from Honolulu where she has been house-mother at Kamehameha School for Girls this winter. The baby's paternal grandmother, Mrs. R. S. Henry Sr. of Beaver, Pa., arrived this weekend for a month's visit and her husband will join her here in May.

Washing soda, which contains no grit or sediment, can be used in dry form to keep pots and pans shiny, and bathroom porcelain and tile gleaming.

A FRUIT TABLE stood at the end of the exotic polynesian buffet at the Palm Springs Ranch Club luau. Cracking a tooth on a cocoanut is that favorite comic of television and screen Syd Tomack, whose wife Ginger is about to pick a banana. On the right, admiring the oranges, pineapple, papaya, grapefruit and apples, is singer Patti Page and her husband choreographer Charles O'Curran. (Gayle Studio Photo)

Members and guests of the Western States Advertising Agencies Association will be entertained at an authentic Hawaiian Luau by Sunset Magazine at the WSAAA Convention in Palm Springs. The Luau takes place the opening night of the convention, which runs from April 23rd through the 25th at the Oasis Hotel.

This spectacular event will be staged on the lawns of the hotel, in true Hawaiian style. The menu was especially prepared by the Chefs of the Hawaiian Village in Honolulu. Native flowers, leis and other Island trimmings are being flown to Palm Springs for this occasion.

Sunset's editors in Hawaii are helping in the planning of the Luau. Native costume will be the order of the evening. Sunset has sent each Convention delegate a reprint of an article that recently appeared in Sunset "How to make a MuuMuu." Prizes will be given for the most authentic and spectacular Hawaiian dress.

Ginny and Bob Dorn, Sunset's Southwest manager and his wife, will be joined as host and hostess by the Howard Willoughbys, the Mel Lanes, the Howard Wilsons and the Wally Simmons. The Lanes and Willoughbys both Sunset vice presidents, are flying to Palm Springs from Menlo Park for the occasion.

According to Bob Dorn "Sunset is particularly pleased to host this Luau. We have for many years enjoyed a fine relationship with the Association and its member agencies. It is also significant, we think, that Sunset has considered Hawaii the "eighth" Western State for many years. We have maintained editorial offices there, and have a very strong circulation throughout the islands. If we can bring a bit of Hawaii to the convention, and the Sunset Luau is enjoyed by all, then we are happy to have a part in making this 9th annual Convention another successful one."

Santa Anans Are Weekend Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Anderson of Palm Springs were hosts over the weekend to Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Olson, of Santa Ana. The foursome were among the mid-morning breakfasters on the terrace at Oasis Hotel, where they dined under colorful umbrellas and overlooked the gardens.

IN A GARDEN WEDDING on Sunday, at the Chester Moorten home on South Palm Canyon Drive, Maryon Drake became the bride of Howard W. Stallberg. The two are shown with their cake at the reception which followed the charming out of doors wedding.

Stallberg-Drake Vows Recited in Garden Under Palm Trees

In a garden setting at the South Palm Canyon Drive home of the Chester Moortens, Maryon Drake and Howard W. Stallberg said their wedding vows on Sunday afternoon. Judge Hilton McCabe officiated.

Formerly of San Francisco the bride is secretary of the Desert Museum, of which Mrs. Moorten is second vice president. The bridegroom is construction supervisor with Robinson-Wilson Company of San Bernardino, who built the new museum building.

The ceremony took place in a setting of giant granite boulders under a curved palm tree, surrounded by flowering cacti. Palo Verde trees and other desert plants, for which the Moorten gardens are noted. Around 100 guests gathered on the lawn in the palm grove.

The groom and his best man approached from the hillside garden path as the bride appeared on the north balcony of the Tower-room, where Mr. Moorten, who gave her in marriage, escorted her down the steps.

The reception that followed the ceremony was held in another part of the garden that features blossoming African and South American desert plants.

Profusion in Flowers in Show

Beautiful arrangements of every flower that grows in the Palm Springs area made a breathtaking display that greeted the members of the Palm Springs Woman's Club Monday when they attended the closing session of the Club year.

Never has the club been more colorful with the gorgeous baskets of perfect roses, displays of dry desert flowers, and miniature arrangements that would be a challenge for any judge to decide which would be the winner. Flowers were plentiful and the talent of the club was at the highest.

Sweepstakes winner was Caroline McClure while the top blue ribbon winner was Norma Simonsen who won awards in four classifications — Cacti and Desert Flowers, Specimen blooms, Special arrangements and Bouquets. Other blue ribbon winners were Jean Cartwright, Mixed Bouquets; Dorothy Yesley, Dry Arrangements; Vera Jones, Roses; and Blanche Turonnet, Miniatures. Pat Moorten and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Willard judged the show.

Mrs. Harry Yesley, chairman of this picturesque flower show, was ably assisted by Mrs. William A. McCarty and members of her committee: Miss Hazel Gross, Mmes. J. B. Springer, Grace Steenberg, Foster Simonsen, Paul Burkholder and Howard Matthews.

Mrs. Herbert Burns, president of the club, welcomed as new members Miss Noel Watson and Mmes. Ross McCutcheon, W. E. Holman, Lawrence Boyle, George Brown, Smith MacMullin, Graham Foote, A. R. Brattrud, E. A. Wallace and Lawrence McClass.

Miss Lillian Sebelius, program chairman, presented Michael Edwards, and his talented accompanist Seama Green. Equally at home in opera, musical comedy or popular music of the day, he was a featured vocalist in Sigmond Romberg's concert tour and was a singing star of Billy Rose's "Diamond Horseshoe Revue." The program so thrilled the audience that the singer was returned to the platform for many encores.

Following the program, members gathered in the colorful patio garden where Mrs. Charles Burley and her committee had arranged an attractive table where ice punch was served with lemon cake.

An added attraction in the garden was a showing of beautiful water color and oil painting, all the work of talented club members, and displayed under the leadership of Mrs. Jerome H. Dreier.

Progress Edition Brings to Mind Recollections of Early Palm Springs

(Editor's Note: Lee Strobel, now a resident of Yucaipa, recalled his own personal experiences with early Palm Springs upon reading the recent Progress Edition of The Desert Sun. His account of early day life here fololws:)

By LEE STROBEL

Your recent Desert Progress edition brought memories of the time, long ago, when I first saw the small Indian village of Palm Springs. I use the term advisedly, for at that time the Indian population far exceeded the whites.

It was a cold, windy day in February, 1909, when cramped and chilled I, like an aged rheumatic, slowly clambered out of the stage as it stopped in front of the little general store that sheltered the tiny post office of Palm Springs.

JUST ENDED WAS a tiresome journey of three long hours behind a team of Indian ponies that had strained in their collars through 11 miles of drifting sand, from the Southern Pacific depot which, if not the same one, was at the same place where the present one is located.

As I looked around at the few rough shacks scattered in the sagebrush, I would not have given a plugged nickle for the possibility of Palm Springs ever becoming a thriving metropolis. Nor was there, outside of the tiny settlement, another building of any kind for 20 miles in any direction. Automobiles were in use elsewhere at the moment, of course, but I do not remember seeing one in Palm Springs.

MY HOME WAS IN Los Angeles, and I had come to this unpromising place to spend a few days with relatives — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Merritt and their 30-year-old son, Louis. The family had come to Palm Springs a couple of years before, hoping the clean desert air would be of benefit to Louis' ailing lungs.

I had been advised by letter to look westward after getting off the stage, "and you will see our camp at the foot of the mountain." Following this instruction I had no difficulty seeing three weather-beaten tents a little way off, about ten steps and a couple of jumps, I'd judge, beyond present - day Bullock's magnificent store.

NO DESERT WANDERER could ever want a more ideal place to set up camp, here at the side of roistering Tahquitz creek, brim full of clear cold water, too swift to wade, and too broad to jump. Near at hand was an abundant supply of seasoned mesquite for maintaining an extravagant, fragrant campfire. The nearest neighbor was half a mile away.

Rambling onward Tahquitz creek went to the nearby Indian lands where it had irrigated corn, mellon, and bean patches for ages. On its way, Indians and whites alike dipped into it for household needs.

SHORTLY AFTER I reached the Merritt's pleasant camp, Carl Eytel, the timid but gifted desert artist of the time, came by and we all had supper together. Carl had come to tell his friends the uplifting news that during the day someone had come along and given him something like six or seven dollars for one of his desert landscapes.

Carl was elated, for the money would buy a lot of bacon and beans at Nellie Coffman's little store — the lady who had come to the desert with a sick husband, and was to build the noted Desert Inn and personally operate it for many years.

AFTER CARL HAD gone to his little shack later that evening, where he lived alone and painted his fine pictures, my people let me know that much of the time he didn't have too much to eat, they thought, and for this reason, even though they were not affluent themselves, they always had something to eat for him, no matter when he came by. He, too, had come to the desert for his health.

Carl was highly regarded by the Indians of Palm Springs and Banning, and spent much time with both tribes — the Cahuillas of Banning; the Agua Calientes of Palm Springs. When he died in Banning some years later at around the age of 45, the Cahuillas honored him as they had no other white man by burying him in their own cemetery. This kind act of his red brothers saved him the indignity of going to the white man's Potter's Field.

THE MERRITT FAMILY stood high with the Agua Calientes of Palm Springs, and many came, while I was there, to sit and visit at their campfire and sample the frijoles kept hot at the fireside.

A year later (1910) I went to see the Merritts again. This time, however, I met them at Banning, where they had brought Louis for some dental care, as I recall. Upon getting off the train at Banning, little did I know that the Merritts and I were soon to have a "ringside seat," so to speak, of a grim western drama of thrilling chase and violent death.

While it was not an episode of the town of Palm Springs, nonetheless the people there, red and white, and the whole desert region thereabouts were kept in excited suspense for many a day.

THE LEADING ROLE was played by a teen-age Indian by the name of Willie Boy. The unfortunate youth was of the Chemehuevi tribe on the Colorado river between Yuma and Needles. He had come to Banning to earn a little money picking fruit. Instead, the whole pattern of his existence was to crash to earth when his eyes chanced to fall upon a 14-year-old beauty, daughter of Old Mike of the Banning tribe.

With love pangs in his heart, Willie Boy went to Old Mike and decently enough asked permission to marry his pretty daughter. An emphatic "NO!" was the answer of the proud Cahuilla to the upstart Chemehuevi.

WILLIE BOY SILENTLY walked away but soon returned with a 30-30 rifle and shot Old Mike dead, shook the gun significantly at those Indians who witnessed the killing, then siezed the terrified girl by the wrist and fled the bloody scene at a speedy Indian "dog trot." The strange couple came past the small cottage in the outskirts of Banning where the Merritts and I were staying, but none of us saw them go by.

Pulling the bewildered girl along, Willie Boy headed downgrade towards Palm Springs. He had a friend there who might be able to provide saddle horses, or in some other way help him escape. When 15 miles on his way, with 10 yet to go to reach Palm Springs, Willie Boy changed his course almost to the opposite direction, and headed towards Twentynine Palms, where a small band of Indians lived, and an occasional prospector camped. An elderly aunt of Willie Boy's lived there. Perhaps she coulc help him in some manner.

IT WAS SEVERAL hours, as I recall, before the Banning authorities organized a mounted posse and got on the trail. Spurring their horses, for it was late afternoon now, in due time as the cavalcade approached the Morongo foothills, a disheveled object was found in the trail. Willie Boy had struck again, and this time his dearly beloved had gone down. The dusky maiden had been shot through the heart.

She had traveled about 25 miles without water that hot summer day, and the fast pace had been too much for her; she could go no farther. Her body, still warm, indicated that Willie Boy was not far ahead. Nevertheless, night was at hand and pursuit must be postponed till the morrow, lest the trail be lost in the darkness.

A COUPLE OF days later Willie Boy, still afoot, ambushed the mounted posse and blasted a number of them out of their saddles. Some days later, and many miles farther on, he repeated the lethal stratagem, to borrow a little more time while the dead and wounded were packed back to Banning and a fresh posse recruited.

At last, starved, footsore, hopeless and exhausted, Willie Boy ended the sanguinary chase of more than 200 miles by using his deadly rifle on himself.

Thus did Willie Boy, the love-sick Chemehuevi, dart across a page in history, and was gone.

I DID NOT SEE Palm Springs again till 1924. The sandy, horse-killing road from the depot had been paved, I gladly noted, as my car rolled along it at 50 miles per hour. I had come all the way from Los Angeles in little more than three hours. A great change had come over the old Indian village since 1909 - 1910. Now its streets were more or less clearly defined. Some even were paved and had names!

Long since the Merritts had folded their tents and departed, Carl Eytel with them, on their last journey. In the three years Louis spent in Palm Springs he had regained his health and powerful physique of old. Then, alas, he returned to the damo sea coast, and that was his undoing.

There is no use of my attempting to describe the miraculous growth of Palm Springs, a story everyone knows. My only regret it that I did not forsee it, and invest in a section or two of the Southern Pacific RR land that was scattered through the old village, which the SP was anxious to dispose of at a dollar and a quarter per acre, with very generous terms thrown in on the deal.

Two Old-Time Employes Of Desert Inn to Retire

By FRED WEIGEL

Two men, each with more than a third of a century of hard work behind him, will retire in May after seeing Palm Springs grow from a small unincorporated desert stage stop to the most luxurious winter resort in the world.

Inez Quiroz, 70, for 33 years an employe of the Desert Inn, whose job it has been to cut wood, clean fireplaces and lay the fires for some 54 fireplaces, will call an end to his unheralded but fabulous career.

AND AT THE SAME time, Lew Tom Nysp, 74, not only an employe but a resident of the Desert Inn for 36 years, announced that he too would retire at the closing of the hotel in May. Nysp has been irrigation man and gardener at the hotel since 1923.

Quiroz was born in Agua Caliente, Mexico, more than two-thirds of a century ago, and in 1923 he took his wife to Arizona, where they lived for three years. In 1926 they came to Palm Springs and Mrs. Nellie Coffman gave him a job cutting and hauling wood for the Desert Inn's fireplace.

IN PALM SPRINGS he started his family and has four daughters and four sons. His daughters have married and live throughout the country, but all four sons are residents of Palm Springs today.

Quiroz, it is reported, was responsible for the construction of the rock wall which completely surrounded the Desert Inn mashie course at the west end of Tahquitz Drive.

He, with a friend and a team of mules, worked more than a solid year to complete the project.

AS THE HOTEL grew, so did Quiroz' job, and for almost a quarter century his job has been to care for and lay fires in a total of 54 fireplaces at the Inn—twice a day.

Said another old-timer at the hotel — "In all these years Quiroz never prepared a single fire that didn't light."

Asked what he was going to do now that he was retiring, Quiroz said, "just take it easy," but his eldest son had one pertinent remark — "I don't know what he is going to do without a fireplace."

TWO OLDTIMERS—Ready to retire after a third of a century at the Desert Inn, are making further plans to fill out their very active lives. Lew Tom Nysp, 74, carries a shovel to show that his job, held for 36 years at the Desert Inn, was that of irrigation man. Inez Quiroz, 70, was employed by Nellie N. Coffman 33 years ago to take care of a total of 54 fireplaces, twice a day. Their stories are far from being the end of their important, unheralded careers. (Desert Sun Photo)

Said Fred Pierce, head engineer for the Desert Inn, with whom Quiroz worked for many years: "Well, maybe we'll have to build him one."

NYSP WAS BORN in Hong Kong, China, in 1885, and 38 years ago he came to the United States from China. He first settled in Los Angeles where he lived for two years, and in 1921 came to Palm Springs and started his job at the Desert Inn.

Mrs. Coffman put him to work with irrigation, and his first job was to care for the 50-odd acres of grapefruit, tangerine and orange trees that grew on what is now the main site of the famous hotel.

NEVER MARRIED, Nysp got a room in the employe quarters of the Desert Inn, and has lived in the same room ever since. When he wasn't opening flood gates or valves to water the orchards and plants at the Inn, he worked as a gardener, caring for the famous plants and shrubs brought to the desert by Mrs. Coffman.

What is he going to do when he retires? He reports he is going to Los Angeles and help at a little market and laundry that is owned by his cousin.

But future plans for the 74-year-old man call for a trip back to China in about four years.
